

MAGICAL MARCH

What's happening at Trident Hotels this month

Behold the season of long weekends

March has a habit of being unexpectedly generous. One well-timed break after another, almost as if the calendar decided we deserved it.

First, Holi. Not a long weekend unless you choose to make it one. A day or two of leave turns it into the perfect excuse to celebrate somewhere quieter, away from the city rush. A little colour, a little calm and a change of setting. Sensible planning, we'd say.

Then comes the Eid weekend. A time for shared moments, celebration and perhaps a plate (or two) of exceptional biryani. If Hyderabad happens to be on your mind, we know just the place to stay.

And just when you think March might be done, it leaves you with one more reason - the Ram Navami weekend. Take the Friday after off and you have a perfectly placed four day break to close the month.

Three long weekends, back to back. If the calendar is this generous, it feels right to answer in kind.

Queens of Rajasthan

We've long admired the Maharajas of Rajasthan - their courage, their conquests, their place in history. But behind every battle fought and every kingdom defended stood women of remarkable strength who preserved legacy through stewardship, resilience and a cuisine that carried the spirit of their land.

This March, at Aravalli at Trident, Udaipur, we pay tribute to these extraordinary women and their kitchens. From Rani Karnavati of Chittorgarh's Silbatta Murgh to Maharani Sajjabai of Mewar's Jungli Maas, each dish tells a story of quiet strength and enduring heritage.

More than a meal, this is a celebration of queens whose influence was felt far beyond palace walls. Spend an evening with us and experience a graceful heritage served with honour.

A high tea that travels

We do enjoy a good high tea. Especially one that serves Spanish prawn pinchos.

This month, at Trident, Agra, we invite you to experience a high tea that goes far beyond the usual pastry-and-tart affair.

From Turkish adana kebabs to Argentinian empanadas, the menu travels widely - thoughtfully bringing together flavours from around the world. And if your heart belongs closer to home, Mumbaiya vada pavas and Dilli's kulfi faloodas are more than ready to oblige.

So make the call, gather your inner circle and reserve a table.

After all, if tea is this well travelled, you should be too.
